Wanted.—An Antidote.
We have seen antidotes for mad dog bites, and other such maladies, but have never yet noticed a remedy for dogs, or at least no practical application of one. Our town is now terribly afflicted with this malady—has got The Dogs the worst way. By the term "dogs," we mean literally what we say—the genus canis. But cannot some inventive genius or desciple of GALEN devise or prescribe a remedial means for ridding her of the dire pestilence. The disease bids fair, if not arrested, to assume a chronic form, and may prove finally the mournful demise of the patient and her consignment to—the dogs. Who knows? Daily the symptoms grow more alarming; larger dogs make their appearance; stray dogs, hungry and gaunt, come in; the older dog-denzens grow bolder; terriers, poodles, purps, and other of the "lesser dogs," seem to have increased proportions and consequence as they make their debut.

We unto him who assays to peregrinate by "the sweet silver light of the moon," and seeks to lose himself in contemplation of the blue labyrinth of heaven, for ere long, mayhap when too late, will he discover that Pandemonium is not a quarter of a mile distant. The din of the nightly carnivora "high carnival" salutes his ears, and some "Big Dog" on picket duty requires him to disgorge his authority for thus desecrating this ceremony. We unto him if he be not prepared. It were better that a mill-dam be tied about his neck, etc.

We have read that in the good old times (bless us!) will they never come again?) there was a certain council of the learned men, and those who had the fear of the law and peace and safety of their fellow men before their eyes, to ascertain if possible what could be done in the matter of certain canines which were daily increasing in number in "ye town," and that these magot, did enact certain laws whereby a tax was levied and certain dogs were to be pounded by "ye marshal." But these things, like their authors, have passed away and are consigned to a tomb of oblivion; no record of them, perhaps, remains among the archives of the city, and the "oldest inhabitant" retains them not in his memory.

Is a man to be bitten or not to be bitten? that is the question! Whether 'tis nobler to suffer one of these vile monsters to lay hold upon his flesh and consume him, or by producing one of the "last arguments of kings," seek by its soft notes to soothe his savage breast—to end him? We repeat, "the question!" Answer it those who can. Verbum sat sapienti.

A Produce Dealer Wanted.
The St. Joseph Herald complains of extortionate prices demanded for everything in the market by producers. The trouble with this town seems to be the want of merchants who will deal in produce extensively. We refer hower, not to eggs, butter, etc., but to the heavier produce, such as bacon, flour, potatoes, etc. We have seen loads of such produce go off for want of a purchaser. We are not a mercantile man, but it does seem to us that some merchant or merchants could retain a great amount of trade, which otherwise leaves here by simply buying from the farmers, producers of all kinds, which could be shipped to the higher priced markets, such as St. Joseph.

MEXICAN news is to the effect that Maximilian will soon issue a decree conceding San Domino and Sonora to the French as security for the war debt due France.

A Vera Cruz correspondent mentions a rumor that the session to France of the northern Mexican States Sonora, Sinaloa and Durango, so long talked of, would finally be consummated in a decree to be issued by Maximilian about the first inst. The Emperor was still, on his tour in the interior and the Empress had left the capital to meet him. They were both received by the people wherever they went. The guerrillas in different parts of the country were still giving plenty of employment to the Imperial troops and over 1000 fresh French soldiers for Maximilian had recently arrived in Vera Cruz and passed into the interior and more were to come.

INDICTMENTS FOR TREASON.—It is reported that the Grand Jury of Andrew County, at a recent session, acting under the charge of Judge Heron, indicted over three hundred persons in that county for treason. The Judge is said to hold the opinion that they are subject to punishment under the State Courts, as well as by those of the United States. The defense of these fellows will afford a rich harvest for the lawyers. "When men dance they must pay the fiddler."—St. Jo. Herald, 22d.

ARRESTED.—Yesterday a man by the name of Merress was brought in town under arrest on charge of burning a mill. It seems that Squire Caldwell had a mill burnt in '61 by a band of unorganized rebels, and it is supposed that young Merress was one of the party. He has been in the rebel army several years, but has lately taken the oath and returned home. He will now have to answer the above charge. We are unable to learn further proceedings.—[Savannah (Mo.) Era, 22d.

COMMITTED TO JAIL.—James Gribble, Robt. Lancaster, and Lemuel Lancaster, were brought up from Platte county yesterday, and lodged in jail. They were arrested and examined upon a charge of horse-stealing, and sundry recreations of that kind.

Lewis Morris, of Andrew county, was also brought down and stored away for safe keeping. He is charged with the crime of burning the mill at Rochester, some time since.—[St. Jo. Union, 25.

ON THEIR WAY TO THE PLAINS.—The Seventh Kansas Cavalry left St. Louis last Thursday for Omaha, and may be expected here to-day. They are designed to co-operate with the troops already sent on by Gen. Pope, to serve against the Indians, who are getting in force north of the Platte, with the intention of making a stand against Gen. Conner.—St. Jo. Union, 25th.

A CORRESPONDENT travelling through Georgia and Alabama says that the free negroes are generally going to work on the plantations, though many prefer idleness. In Georgia most of the planters intend to give the free labor system a fair trial, deeming it preferable to the slave system, if it can be made successful. In Georgia an immense crop is being grown.

Deaths.

On the 21st inst., at Forest City, Mo., of Dr. ARCHER, ALBERT, infant son of CHRISTIAN and BERTHA KRAUS, aged 18 months.

On the 23d instant, at Forest City, Mo., Dr. A. A. RUCKER, aged 46 years.
[Dr. RUCKER's death resulted from an accidental wound in the knee joint from a pen knife, received some two months since, which caused him much severe suffering.]
